

I know all the tales

I don't know much, it's true.
I only can tell, what I have seen.
And I have seen:
that the men's cradle is rocked with tales,
that the men's cries of anguish are drowned in tales,
that the men's weeping is silenced with tales,

that the men's bones are buried in tales,
And that the men's fear is the origin of all tales.
I only know very little, it's true,
but they made me fall asleep with all the tales.
and I know all the tales.
– León Felipe

EL PRESSENTIMENT

N. 68

www.elpresentiment.net

11.09.2018