The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. The man who obeys the law feels guilty and is guilty in advance, and the more strict his obedience, the greater his guilt. — Gilles Deleuze

EL PRESSENTIMENT